This film, adapted from a book by the same name by Susanna Kaysen, describes a two year "interruption" in a young woman's life when she entered the nether world of a psychiatric hospital. The year her journey began was 1968 but the experience is not dated. The insight through a young woman's eyes of survival in an institution is as provocative as "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest" and "The Snake Pit" in the lexicon of films about mental illness. R strong language and content
We'll be joined in the discussion by Maria Tilroe Stringer from the Eating Disorders Program/Mental Health, Ministry for Family and Children

Norman Jewison's latest release is based on the life story of Rubin 'Hurricane' Carter, a prize fighter who was wrongfully imprisoned for 20 years. It's a great tale of redemption and of the way people can support and inspire one another to overcome personal obstacles. Pg 13

JULIA ROBERTS RICHARD GERE
RUNAWAY BRIDE
Catch her if you can.

I got cornered on a plane with this "star vehicle" for Julia Roberts and Richard Gere, and was surprised to find it a thoroughly delightful film, one I think the MM crowd will enjoy. She's a girl who has earned a rep for bolting at the altar. It's less predictable than you'd think. Pg

The third in our fun series of sing-alongs, this classic, laced with wonderful singable tunes, will surely raise the roof. What will you wear? Free popcorn for those in costume. MM first screened this the "Winter of the Great Snow", the first Monday in Jan 1997, for a small but hardy audience who mused out through the suddenly quiet streets of Victoria. We didn't realize then how much fun could be had by singing along! G

INTO THE GREAT SOLITUDE

Robert Perkins' unique and intimate film of a solo canoe journey in Canada's far north. He records his impressions of a strangely beautiful landscape and in that solitude reflects on change and death and searches for new perspectives on his relationship with his aging father. G
