95min A small human drama/comedy that addresses some huge issues. A British civil servant (Bill Nighy) meets said young-woman-in-a-cafe and uncharacteristically invites her to accompany him to the G8 meeting in Iceland, a summit on global poverty. This young woman's idealism clashes with the well-greased wheels of polite international diplomacy. www.hbo.com/films/girlinthecafe/

THE LIFE AND DEATH OF PETER SELLERS
Geoffrey Rush is brilliant and as chameleonic as Sellers himself as he vividly portrays the man we thought we knew. Despite his comic genius, the man who famously brought us Inspector Clouseau and Chauncey Gardener and the goofiest goon, had a deeply troubled personal life. The film peers behind the facades of his many characters to expose the one the legendary comedic actor never revealed to the public, himself. The 2005 Golden Globe winner for BEST MOTION PICTURE and for TV and BEST ACTOR for TV. 122min

LA NEUVAINE

2005 Winner of the Ecumenical Jury prize at the Locarno Film Festival for presenting simple faith with respect and acknowledging the difficulty of belief in the face of tragedy. Two strangers, a troubled woman doctor and a young man on a nine-day pilgrimage, or novena, offering prayers for his dying grandmother's life meet by chance in this emotional yet contemplative film.
"Deliberately paced and often deeply melancholic, [La Neuvaïne] is as intelligent and rewarding as films get, and a kind of sanctuary in itself." - Ray Bennett, The Hollywood Reporter Rated in Canada's Top 10 films this year. Hopefully director and screenwriter Bernard Émond will join us by phone for Q&A

"a ship a day
...a death a day"

SHIPBREAKERS: The Place Where Ships Go To Die
An exquisitely filmed documentary about the recycling of old ships in ALANG, in northwest India. The industry poses dangers to the people who work there and to the environment around them; however, it also shows that without shipbreaking at least one million people in India would go hungry. A global paradox. 72 min plus - DOHBIGHAT - What happens when residents of Mumbai, a city of 15 million residents, leave dirty clothes to be washed? No laundry tickets and no computers, yet they are delivered the next day, in perfect condition through an amazingly efficient system employing illiterate workers. Pg 48min

Joe Mitchell is a top writer at The New Yorker, specializing in profiles of urban eccentrics. But he's never met anyone as fascinating as Joe Gould, a cantankerous, unkempt, yet possibly brilliant street philosopher and author. When Mitchell decides to profile Gould, he has to decide whether Gould is a fraud or a genius. Joe is played, with another kind of genius, by Ian Holm. Stanley Tucci adapted and produced this real-life story and played the inquisitive writer. 104 min
