Dog Gone Addiction

An inside look at the worlds' toughest sled dog race

Hang onto your dog team and join three women tackling the grueling Yukon Quest; a 1000 mile sled dog race through the Yukon and into Alaska's frigid Interior.

Michelle Phillips, a young Canadian mother; Agata Franczak, a 48-year-old Polish adventurer and Kelley Griffin, Alaskan veteran, test their limits driving their dog teams through record cold temperatures and over icy mountain passes amid mental exhaustion.

You will be entertained by their spirit, touched by their vulnerabilities and, ultimately, wowed by the incredible strength these women possess. This entertaining film will reveal why the lesser-known Yukon Quest is considered by many to be the most challenging sled dog race on the planet. 67min + extras 2007

This multi-award winning film is by Becky Bristow, based in Revelstoke BC but adventuring all over the world, “exploring the world’s most remote wilderness and unique cultures”. <http://www.wildsoulcreations.com/>

DOG GONE ADDICTION managed to capture so much of the experience of the Yukon Quest -- from the humor and the joy, to the fatigue and the danger of the trail, and the relationships the mushers have with their dogs. I was also impressed with how eloquent each of the women was in describing what it means to go after and achieve your dreams.--
