

Re: Nov 25/10 6th floor screening

The trailer and info about the film PEOPLE SAY I'M CRAZY:

<http://www.peoplesayimcrazy.org/>

Typically, the once slender young man puffed up on the meds but there is a photo of him recently on that page, lower right, showing that with weight watchers help he's won his body back.

John Cadigan and his partner were recently featured in a series of short A/V pieces on the NY Times site:

http://www.nytimes.com/interactive/2010/09/16/health/healthguide/te\_schizophrenia.html

He and his partner, Alita, are the first two of seven. Pretty heartening stuff!

I'm hoping folks can realize this is a significant educational resource they should know about.

B

Sept 29/10

Mr Jones is a film that illuminates BP within a fetching fictional narrative. I have shown it several times at Movie Monday and recommended it to people who have the condition, all to good effect. But I find it is unknown to many working in mental health.

In this session I will make a case for using this film as a device that can open up conversations about living with BP and various issues like ethics and treatment - and just how it feels to live with BP.

Trailer: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oc7XozMbR9A>

Bruce www.moviemonday.ca