DEATH BY JOY

AN ESCORTED JOURNEY

Can Mary survive long enough to be healed before she dies?

A candid story of one woman's choice to find joy in dying and her unforgettable discoveries along the way.

Documentary Film : 84 min

Saying no to aggressive medical intervention for a brain tumor, Mary embarks on a clear-headed quest for the true meaning of healing. Her unforgettable discoveries along the way can change profoundly your understanding of life, healing, and death. The path of epic journeys, however, is seldom straight or free of struggle, a truth Mary experiences as she confronts the chilling reality of her shocking past.

This is a remarkable story of family and community collaborating with someone to help them die well.

With Pender Island filmmaker Jim Cribb - photographer, writer, filmmaker, and co-founder with his wife, Andrea of Dexiny Productions, dedicated to exploring the sacredness of life through the arts.
